SPONSORSHIP
MONDAY, JUNE 24, 2024 | BLACKHAWK GOLF CLUB

Friends-

It is my pleasure to invite you to participate in the 32nd Annual Newman Golf Classic. Over the last 31 years the tournament has raised an amazing $3.9M in support of St. Joseph Seminary and Newman Theological College.

By becoming a tournament sponsor, donor or golfer, you not only forge an important connection with the Catholic community; you join in the mission of St. Joseph Seminary & Newman Theological College.

The college and seminary provide education and training for priests, chaplains, teachers, parish workers and ministry leaders — the people who go on to serve our families and communities. Unlike other post-secondary institutions, they receive no government funding. They rely on fundraising events like the Newman Golf Classic, and the sponsors, donors and golfers who make it a success each year.

I invite you to review the opportunities outlined here and think about how we can help each other.

To find out more, please visit caedm.ca/golf or call Anna at 780-952-6437 or Lianne at 780-934-8124.

Thank you,

Michael Norris

YOUR SUPPORT AT WORK

“SAME, SAME, OR NOT SO SAME”

DCN JAKE MULLIN, ARCHDIOCESE OF EMONOTN

This year has gotten off to a rather different start for me. I was ordained as a Deacon on May 26th and spent my summer helping at Our Lady of Victory Camp and attending World Youth Day in Portugal. Both were very positive experiences, challenging me to grow in different ways.

You'd think that after eight years of formation, I'd have a pretty good idea about what to expect at the seminary, but you'd be wrong, at least partially. It has been a bit surreal for me these past few months, realizing that I am in my final year of seminary formation. Everything seems the same, but I am different.

I am a very different person now than I was when I entered seminary eight years ago, and rightly so: my formation is working. And yet, in many ways, I don't feel too different. I'm still me - ordination hasn't changed that. What has changed is my role in the community and how others perceive me.

People look to me for direction and instruction in a different way now that I am a Deacon. In some ways, I am an authority figure. In others, I am just another seminarian. This change in identity is something that I have spent time thinking about. One way that this change is seen is in my ministry. In previous years, I have helped at youth groups, schools, RCIA, St. Vincent de Paul, and couples' groups. As a Deacon, I now spend almost every Sunday in parishes, assisting the priest and preaching once a month. People treat me differently now that I wear a collar.

I am immediately put into a position of trust, people seem to share with and ask things of me more readily than even six months ago: asking for help with difficult relationships with God and others, house and car blessings, administering the sacraments, etc. I have been humbled by the support I have received from the people in the parishes. In many ways, I don't feel like I deserve ordination ? I've put the time in, but I haven't done anything special. And yet, it seems that saying 'yes' is enough.

SUPPORTING THEOLOGICAL EDUCATION

Newman Theological College is a place for everyone! It offers a rich selection of graduate, undergraduate and certificate programs that prepare men and women for service and leadership roles in the Church, here in Edmonton as well as the wider community across Western Canada. NTC serves seminarians, ordained ministers, religious communities, teachers, youth ministers, parish workers, chaplains and people like you. The Bachelor of Art program in Catholic studies offers the opportunity to study the true, the good and the beautiful through the study of the great works of our tradition. NTC's Benedict XVI Institute offers innovative programs for faith formation including online certificate courses and a variety of free options: Treasures of our Faith seminars and Living in the Word seminars.

St. Joseph Seminary is a place of discernment for those who think that God's plan for them might be to serve as a diocesan priest. In a supportive community atmosphere, the seminary seeks to reproduce that first seminary experience the apostles had with Jesus himself: living with him, eating with him, listening to him, and asking him questions, travelling with him and gradually being prepared by him for a share in his mission. Since 1927, more than 600 SJS seminarians have been ordained to the priesthood and have gone on to serve in parishes across Canada.

Money raised by the Newman Golf Classic goes to the Foundation of St. Joseph Seminary and Newman Theological College, which provides financial support for both institutions. Neither institution receives any government funding. Only the generosity of our donors, sponsors, golfers, volunteers and other friends enables these institutions to thrive.
